

Société Leibniz de Roumanie, Institut de Philosophie et de Psychologie « Constantin Rădulescu-Motru », Centre Régional Francophone de Recherche Avancée en Sciences Sociales (CEREFREA) et la Faculté de Philosophie de l'Université de Bucarest

Programme colloque international
Bacon et la modernité européenne
Linc online: <https://meet.google.com/exv-rodu-rgg>

Vendredi, 9 octobre 2026, 14.00-18.00

Modération: Adrian Nita (Institut de Philosophie et de Psychologie « Constantin Rădulescu-Motru »)

Lieu: CEREFREA (Villa Noël, 6, rue Emile Zola, Bucarest)

14.00-15.00 Andrea Strazzoni (Università degli Studi di Torino), Francis Bacon: A Master of Many Schools (From the Reform of Knowledge to Newtonianism)

15.00-15.40 Alexandros Azaizes (Aristotle University Thessaloniki, Greece), Who Can Participate in the Great Instauration? Charity and the Moral Reorientation of the Inquirer

Pause café

16.00-16.40 Constantin Stoenescu (University of Bucharest), "Baconian sciences" and the experiment as "twisting the lion's tail"

16.40-17.20 Marian Panait („Constantin Radulescu-Motru” Institute of Philosophy and Psychology), La connaissance comme pouvoir et la naissance de la modernité

17.20-18.00 Kyriakos Fytakis (Centre d'histoire des philosophies modernes de la Sorbonne (HIPHIMO UR 1451), Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne), Bacon et la critique cartésienne des préjugés

Samedi, 10 Octobre, 10.00-13.20

Modération: Andrea Strazzoni (Università degli Studi di Torino)

Lieu: Faculté de Philosophie (Rue Splaiul Independentei 204), amph Radulescu-Motru

10.00-11.00 Paul Rateau (Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne), Bacon et Leibniz: sur l'organisation et la promotion des savoirs

11.00-11.40 Remus Manoilă (University of Bucharest), On the Shoulders of Giants: Isaac Newton, the Protestant Reformation, and the Reformation of Knowledge

Pause café

12.00-12.40 Marius Dumitrescu („AI Cuza” Iassy University), The Significance of the Idea of Universal Knowledge in Philosophical Texts from the Early 17th Century

12.40-13.20 Adrian Nita (Institut de Philosophie et de Psychologie « Constantin Rădulescu-Motru »), Bacon et Leibniz: une rencontre impossible?

Samedi, 10 octobre, 16.00-20.00

Modération: Paul Rateau (Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne)

Lieu: Faculté de Philosophie (Rue Splaiul Independentei 204), amph Radulescu-Motru

16.00-17.00 Miranda Anderson (University of Edinburgh), Human Hybrids: Baconian Perspectives on Twenty-First Century Modes of Reducing the World to the Narrowness of our own Minds versus Enlarging them to the World's Amplitude

17.00-17.40 Leszek Kopciuch (Marie Curie-Sklodowska University Lublin, Poland), Francis Bacon's Theory of Inventiveness and the Contemporary Understanding of Creative Activity

Pause café

18.00-18.40 Stefan Viorel Ghenea (University of Craiova), *Susceptibility and Experimental Amelioration: Toward an Anthropological Reading of Bacon's *Sylva Sylvarum

18.40-19.20 Ionut Raduică (University of Craiova), The Limits of Reason: Naturalism and Cognitivism in Francis Bacon's Account of the Passions